

GOVERNMENT'S CASE PRESENTED TO BRYAN

UNDERSTOOD THAT SECRETARY HAS SUBMITTED TO CALIFORNIA THE ULTIMATE CONCESSION.

GIVEN CONSIDERATION

State Authorities Now Debating on Their Answer While Senator Works to Secure Passage of Legislation.

Washington, April 29.—Secretary Bryan has submitted to the California legislature the ultimate concession.

The secretary's statement that, in view of the passage of legislation in defiance of the president's advice, he would feel obliged to do everything possible, "to minimize the ill feeling that may be aroused," is regarded here as making a purpose on the part of the government to become an intervenor with the Japanese in any suit which they may bring before the federal courts to nullify the action of the California legislature.

Assuming that one of the questions which Mr. Bryan has transmitted to the president for Californian legislation is as to the probable time for negotiating a new treaty with Japan, and just how much such a concession could be made to meet the views of California without being objectionable to Japan it may be said that such a method of settling the present issue already has been given some consideration.

The existing Japanese treaty was intended to meet a temporary need in quieting the unrest on the Pacific coast over the school question. Neither party has been satisfied with its work, and it is remarkable for its omissions, compared with other treaties of trade and commerce.

Senator Works Upholds State. Senator Works of California today set out his views on the situation in a prepared statement in which he upholds the right of his state to enact such laws as the one in question and approved the view of the California legislature generally.

After President Wilson's conference there was no information forthcoming either as to the Bryan-telegraph or future moves, but it was understood that at the cabinet meeting later in the day further consideration would be given to the Japanese question.

Cabinet Discussion. When the cabinet assembled, John B. Russell, acting secretary of state, was invited by the president to set out the position of the Japanese government.

Both of them, however, expressed the determination to discover the reason for California's opposition to the Japanese and to ally the existing feeling.

Japan is Active. The announcement of the projected departure in May for the United States of Soroku Ebata, a member of the Japanese parliament belonging to the constitutional party and of Jotaro Hattori, a member of the house of peers, have given rise to the report that a special mission was being sent to America to study the alien land ownership situation in California.

The facts are that their visit has no official character whatever, and Sacramento is not their objective point, their purpose being to revisit Japanese centers in America as representative of the Japanese Christians.

Both of them, however, expressed the determination to discover the reason for California's opposition to the Japanese and to ally the existing feeling.

ENGROSSED PANAMA EXPOSITION BILL

Incorporate Amendment in Bowe Bill Increasing Appropriation to Seventy-five Thousand.

Madison, April 29.—The assembly today voted for the engrossment of the Bowe bill appropriating $75,000 for state representation at the Panama-Pacific exposition by a vote of 52 to 10.

The bill, which was introduced by Representative Johnson, provides for an appropriation from $50,000 to $75,000 was incorporated. After a brief debate in which Conway and Hood opposed the bill on the ground of extravagance it was engrossed 57 to 25.

The Johnson bill to merge the office of state fire marshal with the insurance department was killed. Before the vote was announced Johnson changed his vote from no to yes in order to meet reconsideration. This will bring the measure up for further consideration about next Friday.

LA CROSSE DAIRYMEN PLAN MILK BOYCOTT

Threaten Action as Result of "Unwarranted Activity on Part of City Health Department."

La Crosse, April 29.—As a result of William Newburg being arrested on charges of keeping dairy barns in an unsanitary condition, La Crosse county dairymen are planning a boycott of the city on account of what they term the pernicious activity of the health department. They declare they are able to dispose of their milk, creameries and ice cream factories and are not dependent upon the city. If the boycott fails to succeed, the price of milk will be raised to ten cents per quart in order to meet the requirements of the health department.

RE-ORGANIZES ARMY FOLLOWING MUTINY

General Ines Salazar Succeeds in Part But is Left With Less Than Two Hundred Men.

El Paso, April 29.—General Ines Salazar succeeded in re-organizing a part of his command after a mutiny yesterday says his official report received today at Juarez, but the federal commander is left with less than 200 men, led by Col. Castillo. Three hundred and fifty of the rebels set off to join Villa's band of insurgents, reported near Minaca. They took with them most of Salazar's ammunition and supplies. Even those men remaining with Salazar are said to have refused to proceed in the campaign against the constitutionalists.

Insurgents Carry Treasure. El Paso, April 29.—Unlike Captain Kidd's buccannery, Francisco Villa's insurgents refused to bury their booty.

With them over steep mountain trails they are carrying nearly $100,000 worth of silver and gold, weighing nearly a ton. This was reported by American ranchmen arriving here today from the Madero district where Villa was operating. The treasure was captured several days ago from a Mexican northern railroad train bound for Chihuahua City, from the Guerrero mining district. The metal is packed in a wagon drawn by a team of mules. Beside the wagon ride ten guards picked from Villa's 200 soldiers. It is considered a daring venture to come within rifle range of the treasure wagon. The actual value of the metal is estimated at $80,000 pesos.

Wood Goes to Tucson. Nogales, April 29.—Major General Wood, chief of staff of the United States army, left here early today for Tucson, Ariz., to complete his tour of Arizona points. Gen. Wood will return directly to Washington by way of El Paso.

Consideration in the house itself of the bill passed by the committee of the whole house, simply reporting the adoption of the bill with sundry amendments by the committee and a very quick consideration of the bill and its forwarding to the senate.

Representative Underwood today said he hoped and expected that the bill would be passed by the house this week. He added that unless currency legislation should be taken up the tariff bill could be safely passed by both houses of congress and signed by the president, and congress could adjourn by July 1.

By a vote of 13 to 1 the senate committee today decided to put over to the regular December session of congress all questions of Panama canal tolls, including the Senator Root amendment to the bill for the passage provision of the Panama canal law.

A resolution to bar members of the house interested in banks from serving on the banking and currency committee during the present session was introduced today by Representative Lindbergh of Minnesota.

Sec. Cecil Spring Rice, the newly appointed British ambassador, is expected to arrive in the city this week, or two days after his arrival at Acting Secretary Moore of the state department, who will arrange for his formal introduction to President Wilson in the course of next week. One of the first subjects to be discussed by the new ambassador will be that of Panama canal tolls.

President Wilson today arranged to give three hours Thursday to Senator Newlands and other intermountain senators to discuss the proposed effect of certain schedules of the tariff including free wool and free sugar upon their community.

Several oratorical outbursts caused by the committee to perfect the canal legislation bill were adopted. Representative Payne moved to put the coal tar products on the free list but it was voted down.

Senator Dupont's resolution to remove the subjects to employment to all retired officers of the army was approved today by the senate military affairs committee. The members are eager to find out if any retired officer employed in private life could not be employed on the active list and used to perform light duties which now keep younger officers from troops.

TARIFF MEASURE IS READ BY PARAGRAPH IN LOWER HOUSE

Congress Begins to Take Radical Action Relative to Pet Democratic Measure.

Washington, April 29.—The democratic tariff revision bill advanced another stage in the house today when the reading of the measure paragraph by paragraph was begun. Amendments will be offered by republicans and progressives as the minority while the bill progresses through this part of its legislative journey and some amendments that may seem best in the light of developments may be brought in by the ways and means committee.

As consideration of the bill went on amendments to the amendment proposed by the republicans was rejected with rolling choruses of noes from the democratic side. Majority Leader Underwood and Republican Leader Mann had long arguments because the chemical schedule differed from last year's chemical bill. Underwood explained the changes had been made possible because the income tax was not a possibility last year.

The minority of the house will make a fight on some of the provisions, realizing, however, that with an immense majority of the democrats in the house the bill may go through unaltered by the opposition to it. Whatever amendments are agreed to by the democrats will be voted upon later as a whole when the bill is reported to the house as a formality from the committee of the whole house, the parliamentary status of the house consideration at this time.

Consideration in the house itself of the bill passed by the committee of the whole house, simply reporting the adoption of the bill with sundry amendments by the committee and a very quick consideration of the bill and its forwarding to the senate.

BOY KILLS SUITOR TO AVENGE ATTACK

Crushes Skull of Anthony Marasco, Who Attacked Sister Following Refusal to Marry Him.

Chicago, April 29.—One man was murdered with a hatchet and another shot and probably fatally wounded today as the result of an alleged attack on Anna Forte, sixteen years old. It is said a refusal of marriage was the cause of the attack on the girl.

Anthony Marasco, twenty-five years old, who is said to have made the attack, was slain, it was reported, by Pasquale Forte, nineteen years old, the girl's brother, who struck him on the back crushing the skull.

While the attack was being made on Marasco, Mrs. Pasquale Forte, mother of the girl, seized a revolver and began shooting. A bullet struck Frank Alsano, who was passing on the street, and it is believed he will die.

Mrs. Forte, mother of the girl, Pasquale Forte, a member of the firm of Forte Brothers, bankers, and a cousin of the girl, and Anna Forte were taken into custody to be held pending further investigation by the police. Pasquale Forte fled after assaulting Marasco and is being sought by the police.

Tony Tlanco, sixteen years old, told the police he was an eye witness of the assault and he was detained to be questioned later.

Marasco had known the girl for over a year and a few nights ago asked her to marry him. She refused and he went away in a rage. Today Miss Forte had just left her home on Hope street to go down town to work in a tailor shop when Marasco stopped her.

"I love you Annie and I ask you for the last time if you will marry me?" Marasco is declared to have said to the girl.

"No, I don't love you, and you had better let me alone," the girl answered.

Marasco, according to the police, then seized the young woman, struck her several times, and after she had fallen stooped down and began choking her. Screams of the girl were heard by her mother and her brother, who were inside the cottage, and the tragedy followed.

MANY OF STRIKERS ARE BACK AT WORK

Majority of Employees of I. H. C. Twine Plant Return to Labor at Auburn Mills.

Auburn, N. Y., April 29.—More than 1,500 strikers of the International Harvester Company's Auburn plant returned to work today after a strike of 150 other strikers who tried to persuade them to remain out. The majority of the strikers returned to work after a long conference with the police commission and the company. The strikers were told that the company was willing to consider their demands for a new contract, but they refused to return to work until their demands were met.

MARKETING MEASURE MEANS BIG SAVING CLAIMS ITS AUTHOR

Speaker Hull's Bill Ordered Engrossed in Assembly Last Night—Other Legislative Business.

Madison, Wis., April 29.—A saving to the consumer of from 25 to 30 per cent in the cost of market products is predicted by Speaker Hull in the event his direct marketing bill, which was ordered engrossed in the assembly last night, becomes a law. No opposition arose when the bill came up for engrossment. By its provisions the names of consumers in the cities are to be filed with the state industrial commission by whom the names are sent to producers in the rural districts, direct marketing thus being established, and middlemen eliminated. The sum of $2,000 is appropriated to enable the industrial commission to carry out the provisions of the act.

Vetoed Bossard Bill. Governor McGovern vetoed Senator Bossard's bill authorizing any duly incorporated cemetery association to acquire by gift or purchase any land under the bill, he says, private cemetery associations are authorized to condemn land. This, he says, cannot be lawfully done as private property may only be condemned for public purposes. The bill was re-referred to the committee.

The Rosa joint guardianship bill, which caused one of the stiffest fights in the assembly several weeks ago, and was reported in the senate by the judiciary committee for non-concurrence, was put over until May 8. A strong effort will be made to save it.

Kill Censorship Measure. Under the bill of censure by Don C. Hall, the actor-legislator, the assembly killed the bill empowering the industrial commission to censor and regulate moving picture shows. Mr. Hall objected to a law that would give the industrial commission the power to censor the pictures themselves.

BRODHEAD

Brohead, April 29.—Mr. and Mrs. Frank Warr, formerly of Madison, are moving out to a farm near Avon.

By way of a surprise the M. E. church folks did not hold preaching services on Sunday evening but instead attended the last services of Rev. A. H. Nickell at the Evangelical church. It was a pleasant surprise to the latter and all had a good time.

Rev. and Mrs. Nickell will be located at Richmond Center for the coming year. They have many warm friends in Brohead who wish them well.

A. E. Pierce of Madison, spent Sunday in Brohead, the guest of his daughter, Mrs. Peter Anderson.

Mrs. Taylor Swann left Monday for a visit with her mother at Fennimore.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Gilbert of Beloit, spent Saturday night and Sunday at the home of the lady's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. H. Merritt.

Messrs. and Madames George and Harry Blackford and children of Janesville, spent Sunday with Brohead relatives and returned home Monday.

Mrs. E. W. Bowen and Miss Bowen were passengers to Madison Monday. Attorney Frank Sprague went to Chicago on business matters Monday.

Miss Belle Fleck returned Monday from a stay with friends in Madison.

Mrs. Roy Karney arrived here Monday from Burlington, Iowa, on account of the illness of her mother, Mrs. P. S. Kurtz.

Thirty or forty members of the local lodge K. of E. expect to attend the District Assembly held in Dela-ware, on Monday, May 5th.

The Harris Manufacturing Company intends soon to commence the erection of a new wood shop. The building will be of brick and will probably be located on their lot fronting on River street and extending from the bridge south to Center street.

A new steam engine of larger capacity will be provided, having all the recent improvements and selected with special view to economy in the use of fuel. The company may decide to build large enough to lease room and power to others at a much lower rate than they could otherwise obtain it thus supplying a want most keenly felt since the destruction of the Hump property.

CONTESTANTS FREE TO ASK QUESTIONS

NOYES RAESSLER ANSWERS SEVERAL INQUIRIES IN REGARD TO GAZETTE CORN CONTEST

AN EXPENSE ACCOUNT

Brief Outline Given Showing How to Account For Every Item of Expense in Growing the Crop.

(By Noyes Raessler.) Before going into discussion of cultivation I will take up the matter of answering a few questions which have been asked by some of the contest boys. Those who have questions to ask relative to corn growing, are at liberty to make use of the corn contest department of the Gazette for this purpose. These questions should be addressed to the corn contest editor and will be duly answered by me through the columns of the Gazette. In this way all the boys will receive the benefit of the information. The name and address of person sending in questions must be included, but will not appear in print.

Question.—Can a boy plant five acres of corn and select one of these for the contest?

Answer.—Yes, any number of acres may be planted, and the best one selected on or before July 1st, 1913. The acre for the contest must be in one piece and not in sections.

Question.—Is it allowed to hire help in caring for the acre of corn?

Answer.—Yes, provided a careful account is kept of expenditures. The expense has nothing to do with awarding prizes but will come up later when the cost of production is determined.

Every boy should keep a careful expense account showing just what it costs for labor, seed, etc., and at the end of the season this should be deducted from the value of the crop to determine the net profit or loss.

The Gazette will print the ten best essays on this subject written by the contest boys at the close of the contest. Here is a brief outline which may be used as a guide. It is itemized account of Iowa's champion corn grower in 1912. This will have to be modified of course to meet the conditions of our Rock county boys.

CAN AVOID DAMAGED FRUIT BY SPRAYING

Pium Curculio Which is Responsible For Much Destruction Can be Eradicated

Every one is familiar with damages done to the plum by insects. Plums are stung and are gouged, and there is a great loss thereby to the fruit grower. One man in Janesville reported that he had no good plums from his trees for several years. Last year the boys of the class in Agriculture in the High School sprayed his trees at the proper time and with a proper spray and as a result he had a good crop of fine plums. The plum curculio is a very close rival of the codling moth in the extent of the damage which it inflicts. Its depredations are not confined to the plum, but it injures a large number of apples and cherries as well. Of course it is more troublesome in orchards where spraying and clean cultural methods are neglected.

The plum curculio is a snout beetle but it is not necessary to know the insect to learn of its presence in the orchard, for the young fruit will readily reveal it. It is not so easily seen as the cherry as in the plum and may only be discovered when the fruit is ripe and ready to eat.

The first injury to the fruit is done by the female in depositing her eggs. This takes place usually very soon after the fruit is set. Although sometimes a period of egg laying may continue for some little time. The eggs are deposited in the fruit just beneath the skin. The insect cuts a crescent shaped piece from the fruit just below the egg as a means of preventing them from being ejected.

From one to five or six of these crescent shaped wounds may often be found on the same plum or on the same apple. All who have raised plums are familiar with the effects of plum curculio. The injury from the depositing of the eggs in the fruit arises in two ways. When the egg hatches the young larva burrows into the fruit, eating out the inner portions and fills the interior with excrement. In the case of plums most of the fruit falls from the tree prematurely. Cherries attacked by the curculio, usually remain on the tree.

It is of particular interest to those who have cherries, plums, or apple trees near Janesville, should know how to destroy these pests. The curculio does not yield readily to the efforts of the grower, and it is often dazed before sufficient poison has been applied to cause its death. Formerly sprays were considered of little value in controlling this pest, but they are now considered valuable. The curculio is known to eat the leaves prior to egg laying period, and in this way may obtain poison enough to cause death before it succeeded in injuring the fruit. Poison for the curculio should be applied as soon as the petals fall. Poison with the beneficial in keeping the insect in check. The preparation of a spray for the plum curculio is exactly the same as that which is recommended for the codling moth in a recent article. The apple trees should be effectively sprayed for the curculio, but the cherry trees and plum trees should be sprayed for the curculio. A spray applied just before the buds open, and a second spray just after the petals fall will reduce the evil of this pest to a great extent.

ALLEN B. WEST, Instructor in Agriculture, Janesville High School.

STREET IMPROVEMENT WORK PROGRESSING

Board of Public Works on Inspection Yesterday Found Good Advance-ment is Being Made.

Good progress in the macadamizing of portions of Milwaukee and Jefferson avenues, and in the other streets of the city, was noted yesterday by the board of public works on its tour of inspection yesterday. The excavation of Milwaukee Avenue between Harrison Street and Garfield Avenue is nearly completed, and the sub-grade is being leveled and rolled and made ready for the first course of crushed stone. The sub-grade for the pavement on Jefferson Avenue between Ruggles and Oakland Avenues has received the foundation course of gravel for two blocks east of Wisconsin Avenue. The first block east has been rolled and stone is being hauled in. This kind of pavement is new in this city, and an experiment, but it found satisfactory. It will be laid on the residential streets where the traffic is light and a cheap pavement is desired. The city is extending the large concrete storm sewer that passes under the filling being made on the property. Twenty-five feet of the proposed one hundred foot extension has been made.

Hundreds of feet of cement walk and curb and gutter have been put down this spring. No less than six contractors are at work on Locust Street alone, and the City Engineer has received over one hundred applications for sidewalk and curb and gutter grades this season.

In order to economize on time an attempt has been made to bunch the surveyor's work on the same or adjacent streets. The number of requests for grades is not unusual, as many as 500 having been received in a season, and fifty in one day.

DVORAK TRIO GIVES DELIGHTFUL CONCERT

Young Ladies Appearing Under Auspices of MacDowell Club Score a Triumph.

More than ordinary interest centered in the concert last evening given under the auspices of the MacDowell club. The Dvorak trio of Milwaukee made its first appearance here and gave a performance remarkable for its skill and spirit. The program comprised this organization and each is a thorough musician and the ensemble possesses qualities which at once lifts it above the level of amateurism. The music was of a genuine and noble character. The Dvorak trio, the violinist, gave two solos—the prayer from "Seven of the Madonnas," and an African dance by Cole Porter. She has a colorful tone and her playing is characterized by much temperament and youthful enthusiasm. Miss Grace Hill gave a cello solo. She plays this difficult instrument with ease and authority, retaining technical skill of no mean order, as well as beautiful tone and feeling. Miss Hewitt, the pianist, is a perfect ensemble player, being always sympathetic, adequate and never oversteering. Miss Bergman gave two groups of songs and proved herself an artist of high rank. Her diction is remarkable. She sings with absolute ease and her opulent tones ring out with dynamic fire in the climaxes, but she uses, also, great restraint and refinement in the quieter numbers. Perhaps the Debussy group gave greater pleasure. These fanciful songs possess an atmosphere and potential fascination difficult to analyze, and Miss Bergman presented them with rare insight of their unusual quality.

Mrs. Tandberg, through her distinctive and admirable accompaniments added greatly to the success of the concert.

The stage at Library hall was metamorphosed, for almost the first time in its history, looked attractive. Altogether the MacDowell club is to be congratulated upon an entertainment of quite uncommon value.

EDGERTON PYTHIANS PLAN ANNUAL PARTY

Fine Musical Program is Being Prepared for Lodge Celebration.—Other Edgerton News.

Edgerton, April 29.—Invitations are out announcing the second annual dancing party to be given by the Knights of the Pythias lodge, No. 146, in the Academy hall, at the evening of May 19th. Dancing will be from nine until one. Music will be furnished by George Hatch's orchestra of seven pieces, assisted by Prof. Allington who will play a solo.

The Stoughton Male Quartet will render several songs during the evening. Many have heard this quartet and know that they always please. Misses Martha and Edna Wilson will sing the duet, "A May Morning" while Miss Helen Coon will give a solo, "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling." The Misses Wilson and Miss Coon have often been heard by the Edgerton people and know of their exceptional ability.

Misses Lucile and Kathleen Culton will favor those present with a violin duet. The Misses Culton are both students at the Chicago Conservatory and will speak for themselves. Mrs. J. Shearer will give a reading, "When Francis Joined the Lodge," and the title of the reading alone insures a large attendance.

All the members of the lodge will be present to see that all guests are well entertained and they are going to do their best to make this party a great success. The lodge here generally has a success in all its affairs and they undertake and now hold the record for membership for the last year.

Sport Snap Shots

By Dad McCarty

There's nothing particularly startling in the announcement that Manager McGraw of the New York Giants will retain Jim Thorpe, world's greatest athlete. Even if it takes years for him to show, Thorpe probably will give the best chance a break in a young man ever had. McGraw is too keenly alive to the value of publicity to consider any other treatment of the young Indian.

Probably St. Louis fans are sorry the Cards didn't trade Ed Konetchy last winter, as was suggested. In a recent game against Pittsburgh, the big first baseman got a double, and a triple, the only hits his team got, stole home once, figured in a double play and had 19 put-outs.

Knockout Brown arrived at his home in New York the other day and explained how it happened that he was knocked out by Ed Anderson and Joe Rivers in California. The climate was to blame, and Kayo felt dizzy all the time. He did not explain whether the dizziness was before the fight or after. On his arrival at his home his mother tearfully enfolded him in her arms and protested that his defeats had been due to the absence of home cooking. At any rate, Kayo is pretty well supplied with alibis.

Nick Cullop, recruit southpaw pitcher, is considered a full-sized mascot by the Cleveland Naps. He has warmed up in the bullpen in every game the Naps have won, and they have lost only when he failed to be on the job.

Three triples in four times up was a recent day's work for right fielder Williams of the St. Louis Browns. He took care of the fielding end, too. Incidentally, the Browns won.

Hans Wagner, veteran shortstop of the Pittsburgh Pirates, indignantly denies that he is all in. He declares that the X-ray has not shown anything seriously wrong with his knee. Manager Clark believes that the Flying Dutchman soon will be able to get back into the game.

Mike Gibbons, training hard for the spring campaign, desires it to be known that he will no longer mingle with the welterweights. One hundred and fifty pounds at 3 o'clock is his lowest figure, and he would prefer 152.

Freddie Welsh, English lightweight champion boxer, is still trying to secure matches in New York. Leuch Cross, Jack Britton and Joe Rivers have prudently refused to appear in the ring with him, and he now is after Champion Willie Ritchie, Tommy Murphy, or Packer McFarland. One of these probably will be met in Madison Square Garden May 16.

H. W. Savage's champion pacing team, Minor Hail (2:58 1/2) and George Gano (2:02), will attempt to lower their world's record of 2:02 during the Grand Circuit meet at Syracuse in September. During this same meet, Dottie Patch, also owned by the Minneapolis sportsman, and holder of the world's half-mile record of 53 1/2, will be sent out to lower her record.

Detroit like Chicago, will have a Frank Chance day, to welcome the new manager of the New York Yankees. The date set is May 30. A thousand University of Michigan students will attend in a body to see the Peerless Leader perform.

M'CARTY TO CLASH WITH FRANK MORAN

Will Have Ten Round Argument With Gloves at New York Tomorrow Night—Moran the Lighter.

New York, April 29.—What promises to be the choicest tidbit fed to metropolitan fight fans in some time will be served at the St. Nicholas Athletic Club tomorrow night when Luther McCarthy, claimant to the white heavyweight championship, and Frank Moran, the Pittsburgh heavy-weight, come together for a ten-round argument with the gloves. It will be the best opportunity that McCarthy has had to display his prowess to the followers of the game. In New York, Moran, though smaller and lighter than McCarthy, is counted upon to give the Missouri an interesting battle. Moran has done most of his fighting in the West and in Europe, being unusually successful in foreign lands. The most notable of his recent achievements was a twenty round bout with Guscat Smith, in which he lost the decision to the Californian, but brushed aside the hard punches for the full twenty rounds.

will be felt by Dr. Friedmann's own profession whether he has discovered during his long life the existence of the medical world have so potent an influence that many physicians will not refuse to believe that a man who has made a discovery entitled to rank at least on terms of equality with those of Jenner and Pasteur could be tempted to make his boon to the human race the property of a rich syndicate.

At best Dr. Friedmann has commercialized a discovery of vital importance to multitudes of sufferers from a terrible disease. At worst he has pushed into publicity and exploited to the utmost, for pecuniary gain, a more or less delusive, more or less exaggerated cure for a scourge which he has failed to conquer.

In either case, however, his use of this serum may work out in the end to the benefit of his discoverer, whatever it may amount to, a vital part of his own good repute in his profession, and taken his price for such opportunity as he may have had to gain the veneration and gratitude of mankind.

Heart to Heart Talks
By JAMES A. EDGERTON

BACKBONE.
There are times in the life of every man and woman when he or she must fight for the right.

The occasion comes to all when we must stand up and be counted on one side or the other.

It may not always seem convenient to do this, may not appear good policy. Yet in the long run it is the only course that wins.

All of us in our hearts know what is right and instinctively love the man who stands for it. The world is full of eyes, ears and tongue, and sooner or later what we do will be known. It will count in the world's opinion of us.

And sooner or later the man or woman who is right is going to be the victor. The man who says the contrary has not looked far enough.

He is either a pessimist or a sophist, or both. It is a shortsighted policy that fails to reckon with the workings of the moral law.

In all the universe there is no law that works truer or more certainly. The chief quality required to keep us loyal to this law is backbone.

Not only does God hate a coward, but a coward hates himself. This makes it unanimous.

Moral cowardice is the worst cowardice of all. It is not enough to know the truth. We must also live the truth.

There are times when we must have the backbone to stand alone. The test comes which determines whether our armor plate is of tempered steel or is full of blowholes.

Occasion seizes us through and through, reveals us to ourselves, discloses whether our spines are made of gristle or bone.

Life is a trying-out process. It brings to light every flaw, every peculiarity, every crooked place in character.

The steel rail in the factory may appear perfect yet contain a hidden defect. When the great locomotives pound over it at fifty miles an hour that defect will become apparent. The discovery will probably involve wreck, not only to the rail, but to a trainload of human beings.

Life is much the same sort of heavy pounding process that the locomotive puts on the rail. If there is a defect in our backbones it will be made evident. It may also entail wreck, and the pity of it is that the wreck will inevitably involve others.

Backbone is to character what the rail is to the railroad. Beware of the hidden flaws for they are the points at which the break will come.

TO TOUR ILLINOIS IN SUFFRAGE CAUSE

Mrs. Ella S. Stewart.

Mrs. Ella S. Stewart, Chicago woman's suffrage organizer, will start on May 4 on a three weeks' organization tour for the Illinois Equal Suffrage Association. The trip will cover twelve southern counties of the state where an organization has never been formed, where the people never have heard a suffrage speaker and where sentiment is supposed to be in a hazy state. Her schedule will allow no more than two days in any town.

Our Transactions

The thought of the future influences every transaction made by this store. If this great business is to continue to grow and to extend into the long future it is evident that the foundation must be made deep and firm in the confidence of the public.

Every transaction is a stone in that foundation. Every satisfied customer adds to the feasibility of our high endeavor. To make this store stand out conspicuously in the history of this and future generations as an institution whose influence will be felt all over this part of the state.

Recognizing this, it is obvious that we would sanction no transaction which did not in every way make for the best interests of our customers. Should any transaction be found otherwise by any person at any time, it is far from our desire and will be readily corrected if our attention is called to the matter.

FIFTEEN DAY SENTENCE GIVEN MERLE STAMPER

Unable to Pay Fine of $10 And Costs—Offense Was Second Inside of One Month.

To impress the prisoner with the fact that premium sentences await "repeaters," Judge Fifield this morning gave Merle Stamper, who pleaded guilty to being found intoxicated, the choice of paying a fine of $10 and costs or going to jail to spend fifteen fine spring days. Having no money he had no choice and Patrolman Champion left him in charge of Sheriff Whipple. Stamper was arraigned in the municipal court for a similar offense early in the month.

Carl Williams admitted that he had over-taxed his capacity for managing hard liquor and in the absence of funds to pay a fine of $3 and costs was consigned to jail for six days.

SEEK TO ESTABLISH CLAIMS TO FORTUNE OF FORTY THOUSAND

ROCK COUNTY RESIDENTS INSTITUTE ACTION TO SECURE MONEY NOW IN NEW YORK STATE TREASURY.

TESTIMONY IS TAKEN

Before M. P. Richardson, Acting as Special New York Court Commissioner with Attorney S. D. Tallman Appearing for Plaintiffs.

Fred Wendell and Rachael Jane Williams of Janesville, Mrs. James Stewart of Milton, Mrs. William Chas. F. Felt of Janesville, Mrs. Henry Reader, Clinton, and Mrs. Susie D. Kett, Beloit, are among the heirs of Samuel Stillwell, New York City, who have instituted action to establish their claim to some $400,000 now in the New York state treasury.

Testimony was taken before Marshall P. Richardson, acting as special court commissioner for the supreme court of New York, with Attorney S. D. Tallman appearing for the plaintiffs in the case and Henry S. Renard, deputy attorney general from the New York City office, handling the case on the part of the state.

The money to which the Rock county persons claim comes from a parcel of real estate, once a small private cemetery, located in the heart of New York City, and which was condemned by the city on which to build a school.

In September, 1910, the city of New York paid into the state treasury $35,872, as the amount which they considered the land to be worth, the money being paid to the city of New York by the state.

Subsequent investigation brought to light the fact that a nephew of the original owner of the land was Thomas Stillwell Wendell, who died at Milton, Wis., in 1865, leaving ten children, all of whom are now dead. Each of these ten children left heirs and there are the persons who seek to establish their respective shares of the estate.

The last of the ten children of Thomas Stillwell Wendell to die was Thomas D. Wendell, who passed away at his home south of Janesville, Wis., in 1907. He was survived by seven children, one of whom is Fred Wendell of this city. There are a number of other heirs scattered over the entire west. Many of them were in the city today and were called upon to testify in regard to their relationship.

Two witnesses, Fred Wendell of this city and Eugene Sturdevant of Walworth, were examined this morning, and others gave testimony this afternoon. It was not expected that the hearing would be completed before some time tomorrow.

As soon as testimony has been completed it will be transcribed by Miss Gately, who acted as reporter, and sent to the New York supreme court which will render the decision. The Rock county heirs have a clear claim in the estimation of Attorney Tallman who has gone over the case thoroughly.

CHATAUQUA MEETING ON FRIDAY EVENING

Full Attendance is Desired as Business of Importance Must be Handled at That Time.

On Friday evening, at seven-thirty, there will be a meeting of those interested in establishing a Chatauqua in Janesville during the coming summer, in the library of the Gazette office. It is important that all who are interested in this project be present. Matters of the greatest importance are to be decided and it is necessary to take action at once on the program and other matters. The meeting was adjourned from Monday afternoon to arrive here today to give many desired to attend an opportunity of doing so.

OVER HUNDRED COUPLES AT "PHONE" GIRLS' DANCE

Rock County Telephone Company operators repeated their success on former occasions last evening when over one hundred couples attended their dancing party at Assembly hall. The telephone operators, Edward Allington, the xylophone player, played the dance music. The committee on arrangements was made up of the Misses Jessie Dudley, Agnes Elliot, Jessie Porter, Helen McCarthy, and John Gsell.

BRIEF LOCAL NEWS.

Order is Delayed: The Etryne order ordered by the city, and which was shipped from the factory at Oregon, Ill., on the twenty-third inst., is late in arriving and a trace has been sent out for it. The way bill has been received. The street department is anxious that it should arrive soon, as the first tank car of No. 2 asphalt oil from Coffeyville, Kansas, is due to arrive here Wednesday. It will be applied as soon as possible. The tank car contains 5,000 gallons.

WILL ENGAGE TEACHERS AT ITS NEXT MEETING

MAYOR PROCLAIMS FIRE PREVENTION AND CLEAN-UP DAY

Next Friday, May 2, is Designated—Health Officer Dr. S. B. Buckmaster Gives Instructions.

Next Friday, May 2, has been designated by Mayor Fathens as "Fire Prevention Day," and "Clean-up Day" in a proclamation issued by him this afternoon. The original plan, of having three clean-up days as was followed last year, has been abandoned, it having been decided that it would be more effectively to concentrate the collection on one day. His proclamation is as follows:

To the Citizens of Janesville,

Greeting: Governor F. E. McGovern having proclaimed Friday, May 2, as "Fire Prevention Day," in accordance with his wish, I as Mayor also designate the same day as such, and in addition proclaim it as a "Clean-up Day." I would call attention to the fact that to remove and dispose of all of the winter's accumulation of ashes, tin cans, and other rubbish, also all inflammable and combustible materials, wherever found on their premises, whether it be in yards, alleys, cellar entries, and under sidewalks, in basements, store-rooms, closets, attics, around barns and sheds, etc.

JAMES A. FATHERS.

Health Officer Dr. S. B. Buckmaster urges the necessity of this clean-up work and will assist by personal supervision of the work on that day.

He advises all persons who have availed themselves of the privilege of having clean-up tickets to see that all rubbish they desire to have removed, placed upon the curb, between the sidewalk and the gutter, not later than Thursday, May 1, as on the morning of May 2, the city's cleaning teams will begin the picking up of the same. Consequently it is particular, and have the rubbish piled upon the curb and ready for removal some time during Thursday, May 1, so that the gathering may come to a close by Friday morning, May 2. The collecting teams will not pass over the same route a second time.

CLUB WOMEN ATTEND FEDERATION MEETING

OVER HUNDRED DELEGATES PRESENT AT OPENING SESSION OF FIRST DISTRICT CONVENTION.

VISIT ARTIST'S HOME

Make Automobile Trip to Home of Mr. and Mrs. John Robinson To Inspect Painting of Theodore Robinson.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Evansville, April 29.—The first meeting of the District Federation of Women's clubs, opened today at 2:15 p. m. in the First Baptist church, with an attendance of at least one hundred and twenty-five out of town delegates. The entire list is incomplete as yet, and all delegates have not registered. The program opened with an impressive invocation by Rev. D. Q. Grabbill, after which Mrs. T. C. Richardson bade the strangers welcome to Evansville. This was gracefully responded to by Mrs. A. Starr Best of Evanston, Ill.

Mrs. J. A. Strathairn, president of the Wisconsin State Federation of Women's clubs, is here for the sessions and gave this afternoon a most interesting address upon "Our Contemporary Allies." After this followed a lively discussion of the general problems confronting club work, all present making suggestions and offering problems for solution.

Splendid musical numbers were furnished by Miss Marion Calhoun and the high school girls' Glee club.

The afternoon's program concluded with an auto ride to the country home of Mr. and Mrs. John Robinson, the former artist and the latter Theodore Robinson, whose name means so much in the world of art.

Mrs. and Mrs. Robinson have in their possession a splendid home collection of paintings and studies of the deceased artist, as so many were desirous of seeing work done by the noted painter, the entire Federation were invited there to see the collection.

Nearly every one is familiar with the painting by Robinson, "The Sun," which has been so often copied and the original of which is now in New York city.

Theodore Robinson though not born in Wisconsin (Vermont was his state) spent the greatest part of his childhood here, attended the public school, and seminary, later to Chicago, New York and then to Europe for the further study of art and where he won the name of a painter, which remains after his death.

Returning from the Robinson farm, the guests were given a dinner which was served by the ladies of the First Baptist church at six o'clock this evening.

This evening's program consists of a rendition of the Gloria chorus from Mozart's 12th Mass by the Choral Union under the auspices of Miss Anna Boyce, play, "Spreading the News," by local characters and an evening's address, "Subject 'Moral Powers in the Schoolroom,'" by Professor Maria Sanford of the University of Minnesota. Professor Sanford will be here throughout the Federation meeting and is the guest of Mrs. V. H. Campbell.

Tomorrow's session begins at 8:45 a. m. Business will be attended to, committee reports given and a three minute report of delegates. Luncheon served in the Baptist church Wednesday noon.

The Baptist church where the session was called to order this afternoon was beautifully decorated with yellow roses, tulips, daffodils and palms.

Prof. Maria Sanford of the University and Mrs. Starr Best of Evanston, Ill., chairman of the board of directors of the drama league of America will be guests of Mrs. V. H. Campbell during their attendance at the meetings.

Mrs. J. A. Strathairn, president of the state federation, another honored guest, is entertained at the home of Mrs. O. C. Colony.

The first of the delegates arrived on the noon train which was met by a large reception committee of local club women. Other trains were met by the committee.

The Edgerton woman's club will not be represented at the convention owing to the death of Mrs. Mori Carrier, who was a prominent member.

WOMAN'S PAGE

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

ONE WAY TO RISE.

THERE are some things which one can take from one's neighbor without robbing him, and yet thereby make one's self the richer. Outspoken advice is one of these things; another, vastly more important, is that silent advice which a good man's character or a successful man's acts always give to him who is alert to receive it. All successful men now-a-days are asked by eager interviewers to tell exactly how they made their successes. None of them can do that. But a few manage to give some useful suggestions. A certain well-known newspaper man who has climbed to dizzy heights in his profession in a very few years, said that he thought that what small success he had attained (how hard these big men try to be modest) was won by doing just what the interviewer was doing—that is, finding out how other men had succeeded.

"Only I didn't say anything to them about it," he explained. "I studied it out for myself. From the time I was a cub I made it my business to study the man ahead of me until I found out the qualities that boosted him along, and then to do what he could do to copy these qualities. My first city editor wasn't an all-around newspaper man, but he was a wizard at managing men. He didn't know it, but I elected him my professor of psychology and studied under him for six months. Another editor that I worked under later was no good at handling men, but he had that sixth sense that all good newspaper men have, the news sense—to the nth degree. I made him my professor of recognizing news, and his job was eventually offered to me because I had his good quality plus the other man's ability to handle men.

"Every successful man has one or more qualities to find out how he got to the top, instead of envying him, has a good chance of getting to the top himself if he has any brains." "I think I would make this man's statement even broader. Not only every successful man, but every man or woman has some admirable quality, some peculiar ability, by which he or she has come into close contact with a great many people. Let's remember that each of these is capable of teaching us something if we will only be humble and wise enough to learn it."

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

Swat! It is better to screen the cradle and wear a smile than to screen the precaution and wear mourning. Screens in the dining room usually precede nurses in the sickroom. Screens in the windows prevent crepe on the door. Flies as well as bad water, spread typhoid. A fly in the milk may mean a member of a family in the grave. A fly has natural enemies; the most persistent and most effective should be man. It costs less to buy a screen door than to get sick and lay off for a month. It's a short haul from the garbage can to the dining room via the fly. If at first you don't succeed, swat, swat, swat again.

Verbena Potpourri. Potpourri made with lemon verbena is preferred by many people to the rose. One simple but very effective method of making it is by stripping the petals from the flowers and thoroughly drying them. Then throw them into a jar, stirring first a handful of salt on the bottom of the jar, then a handful of leaves and so on until all are used. A tablespoonful of alcohol should be thrown on once a week and the jar should be tightly closed—one with a double top being preferable. Let it stand until the odor of the chosen flower comes from it, after which leave the outer lid off so that the odor may go through the room.

The Table. Graham-Fruit Cake—The economy of this cake makes it well worth trying, as no eggs and no lard or butter are used, although the result is a very soft and delicious cake. Sift three cups of already sifted graham flour, two cups white flour, one teaspoon each of cloves, allspice, soda, salt and two teaspoons of cinnamon, two cups sour or buttermilk. Beat thoroughly and add three cups raisins or any other fruit, slightly floured. Bake slowly at least an hour in a pan with a hole in the bottom. Half of the above amounts makes a good-sized cake, or one may use it all and bake in two loaves. Nut and Prune Salad—Cook prunes till tender. Remove seeds and cut fruit into cubes, lengthwise. Arrange on lettuce leaves with a mound of cream dressing in the center. Sprinkle makes soft water available everywhere

Every woman knows the luxury of having soft water at her command, especially for washing clothes, but Nature has denied this luxury to many, especially to those living in cities or in "hard water" countries. However, every woman can have soft water in her home with little trouble and less expense. The sprinkling of Gold Dust washing powder in the water from your taps or well will make it as soft as the rain water that falls from the clouds. Gold Dust takes out the mineral substances that make the water hard and brings out the greatest cleansing value. The Gold Dust Twins! Make the Water Brighter.

Gold Dust is sold in 50 size and large packages. The large package means greater economy.

"Let the GOLD DUST TWINS do your work."

THE KITCHEN CABINET

WOMAN will observe the wonderful providences of God shall have wonderful providences to observe.

The planet and the pebble goes attended by its shadow.

FOODS FOR THE CHILDREN.

Milk is the ideal food and drink for the growing child, but it also needs food to add bulk to the diet; foods to use and exercise the teeth upon, as well as to excite the digestive juices. Cocoa is a good drink for children, and should be often given. Hot water and milk supplies a simple and hot drink, but coffee and tea should never be allowed.

Well cooked rice in almost any form is relished by children, and is a good, wholesome food. It should be well cooked, and be thoroughly soft. When served, plain, with top milk, it is a meal in itself.

Baked with egg and a few raisins and milk; it is still more nourishing, and is quite a favorite dessert with most little people.

Raisins, dates and figs add to the food value of any dish, are high in regard and should take the place of much of the candy.

Custards, baked and boiled, of all flavors, combined with chocolate or caramel are another valued food for the child.

Baked potatoes, apples, scraped beef, milk toast, well cooked oat meal and other cereals cooked for hours are all good.

Coddled Eggs.—Place the eggs in boiling water, a pint to the egg, cover and stand back on the heater or in a warm place. Remove the eggs at six or eight minutes for a soft one, fifteen for a medium-cooked, and a half hour for a hard-cooked egg which can be digested by the most delicate stomach.

Apple Whip.—Cook apples until soft by steaming, press through a sieve and to the well beaten white of an egg. A fourth cup of the pulp and a little powdered sugar will be sufficient for one egg white. Season with grated nutmeg, if liked. This makes a simple and easy dessert to prepare for the child.

To scrape beef, lay a thick slice of round steak on a board, and with a knife or sharp-edged spoon scrape against the grain, make in balls and broil in a hot, slightly greased frying pan. Serve with toast.

Then if they prefer to have theirs tucked snugly in their pocket and out of doors for the day, there will be some satisfaction in knowing they are having the right food. Have all or part of them at least, of whole-wheat bread. Nuts, baked in this occasionally taste good and have staying qualities. Any kind of cream cheese, sliced and well seasoned, makes good filling. Follow recipes given recently for cheese sandwiches.

The cake is baked on Saturday, and chocolate filling is used, and that also is useful in long out-of-doors trips or for winter walks, which boys and girls are looking forward to. This is a "help-yourself" luncheon.

SUPPER. Chicken Casserole or Fireless Cooker Boiled Rice and Gravy Bread and Butter Jelly Grape Fruit Salad Pineapple Tapioca Coffee

There is to be no dinner in our modern house this summer—just plain supper, and this when the family have all assembled for the evening.

Breakfast should be a simple, nourishing and dainty meal. It should be quickly and easily prepared and placed on the table at the right time. Foods from the very youngest child to the oldest member of the family.

Never add water to rhubarb when cooking. It is so largely juices that it does not require it, nothing should be wasted in this most valuable spring food and tonic. Wash the stalks and cut in inch lengths without peeling. Put into a double boiler, cover and cook until tender, remove from the fire and add sugar to suit the taste. Do not cook the sugar in it, nor have it too sweet.

The eggs are cooked in boiling water, the stove directed in a recent article on "Eggs." The muffins recipe also was in an article within the last week or two. These may be made Saturday and are just as nice reheated by dipping the tins in cold water and heating in a rather quick oven.

Coffee with hot milk is much better than cream and sugar when acids are used at the same meal.

LUNCHEON. Cheese Sandwiches Olives Sliced Bananas Chocolate Cake or Grape Juice Milk

Two or three kinds of sandwiches may be made on Saturday. If there are hearty boys in the family, then good sized and plenty of them.

CHATS WITH THINKING WOMEN

The Value of Beauty in the Home

PROMINENT woman lecturer said in a recent address: "The Greeks in their development of the sense of beauty were as far above the Anglo-Saxons of today as the Anglo-Saxon is above the negro. This was due to the presence all about them of some sort of beauty."

At first glance this seems rather a strong statement. But when we begin to analyze it we must admit its truth. The Anglo-Saxon is known for his mechanical productions, for progress in material things, rather than in art or the things that are purely beautiful. No Anglo-Saxon nation can, as a nation, stand where Greece stood in sculpture and architecture and poetry and the like.

To be sure, we of today place chief value on material things. We would rather be well clothed and well fed and hygienic and germ-proof than poetical or socratic. We would rather have sanitary houses than Doric temples.

But why can't we have both? Why cannot we on the solid substantial basis we have laid of proficiency in material and mechanical arts up rear a beautiful superstructure of music and sculpture and poetry and all those things we consider the fine arts?

Surely these things are worth while in life. The ancient glory of the Greeks has faded perhaps because they had only the superstructure and no foundation.

We have the foundation and no superstructure, and so our glory, even can we give it such a name, is of a low order.

But if we could combine the two would we not then have the symmetrical development?

And how can we do this? We have succeeded so well industriously, that we need give this part of our development little further thought. It is the realm of beauty to which we need now to turn our attention.

And to progress here can we not find a helpful suggestion in the statement of the lecturer that the superiority of the Greeks in the expression of beauty was due to the presence all about them of beauty in some form.

To grow then into a beauty-loving and beauty-expressing people, into a people who will give to the world the finest in music and poetry and painting and sculpture, we need to surround ourselves with beauty. We need to express it in our home. We need to express it in our outside environment—in our cities, our country, our schools, and other buildings. And we need to do this, not only that we may ourselves find pleasure in these things whenever our eye rests upon them, but that we may cultivate a sense of beauty in our children, and thus, as with the Greeks, develop a race that knows and loves and expresses beauty.

To some extent we are now doing this. But we need to do it more generally and as a whole people. Every woman should see that her surroundings express beauty. She should carefully study the colors of her furnishings and see if they harmonize. She should attentively consider her pictures and bric-a-brac and all such things to discover if they are really beautiful or if they have been gathered thoughtlessly or haphazardly, and have little inherent beauty.

And to express beauty in one's environment does not necessarily mean the expenditure of large sums of money. The proper combination of colors gives beauty. The arrangement of furniture so that groups and lines shall be artistic means beauty. The placing in the home of reproductions of the masterpieces of painting and sculpture, which can now be secured for little means beauty.

So, if we will, we can surround ourselves with the atmosphere of beauty, and give it to our children.

And every one who is doing this is helping, not only those who come within this influence to good undreamed of, but he is helping also the nation forward to a development of the artistic sense that may mean much to our future national life.

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS

by Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Please give the meaning of the following: (1) American and European plan. (2) A la carte term used in restaurants. (3) Don Quixote; how pronounced and the meaning? (4) How is a coat-of-arms conferred upon a family? For what? HANNAH.

The American hotel plan means that the price charged for a room includes the meals served by the hotel. The European plan does not include meals. (2)—You order the meat "by the card," selecting what you wish and it is charged to you at the prices set down on the card. (3) Don Quixote; hero of Cervantes' novel by that name; (4) Originated in the age of chivalry, when they were assumed by knights as emblematic of their adventures and hopes and assisted in identifying persons in full armor. The knight's emblem later became the family emblem. One may adopt one's coat-of-arms, though it is without heraldic significance. Or you may have the family traced back to discover if it ever had a coat of arms.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) If a girl loves a young man five years, is that true love? (2) What does a man think about a girl that will kiss him when she is not engaged to marry him. My hands are very dry and hard. What will make them soft? Should I write to a man I have never met? (3) Should I accept jewelry from one I am not engaged to? (4) What do you think of a man to insist on kissing you when you have refused to? What should I do? (7) How could I earn money at home? HILDA GARD.

(1) She is constant. If she is also unselfish and wishes only for the good of the man, even if it means giving him up, then it is true love. (2) I am afraid he thinks she is rather cheap.

(3) Use oatmeal water when washing them. Cover them with cold cream at night and wear gloves. Rub a little olive oil into them after having them in soap and water. (4) Better not, unless you are introduced by a trustworthy mutual friend by letter. He should write first in such an instance. (5) No, indeed. (6) He thinks you are like lots of girls who say No and still expect to be kissed. Tell him you mean what you say and if he can't respect you he must stay away. (7) If you can do any one thing especially well, let it only mending, let your friends know that you will do that work for them at a certain price. Also advertise it in the want columns of the newspapers. In time you can work up quite a trade.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am a little uncertain as to how to introduce a boy and girl, to mention his name first or should it be: "Miss Smith, meet Mr. Brown?" J. E.

Always introduce the man to the lady, as Miss Smith, allow me to present Mr. Brown. ***

Not if they are good friends and respectable people. (2) Keep a piece

"Very good," said the book seller. "I'll give you nothing but standard books. I suggest that half of them be bound in Russia and half in morocco."

"No, no," said Jacob Cash. "I'm not out-and-out protectionist. I am! Let them all be bound in America."

This Spring Tonic Great Health Aid

(From American Press.) At the first signs of warm weather, spring fever, poor appetite, pale yellow, pimply faces and that tired, drooping, overworked feeling, realize the need of taking preventive measures to ward off sickness and give us energy and good health. At this season of the year, get a good spring tonic to purify the blood, build up the body with strength and energy.

No better tonic has been found than the good old-fashioned one made at home at small cost by dissolving an ounce of Rona, which you can obtain at any drug store, in one quart of water. Add one-half cupful sugar and hot water to make a full quart.

A tablespoonful before each meal will do wonders for those who feel "all gone" after the strain of winter or who feel sick and yet don't know just what's the matter.

Dinner Stories

Senator Swanson of Virginia tells a good story on himself about the first political speech he ever made. He says: "I jumped up and began, 'Gentlemen, Herodotus tells us, 'Which ticket is he on?' yelled the man with the red shirt."

"Herodotus tells us, I resumed with a gulp, of a whole army that

VAN HOUTEN'S RONA DUTCH COCOA

Let the children have plenty of it. It's a nourishing food. Use it as a beverage or for cakes, ices, puddings and sauces.

It costs less than domestic cocoa because it goes twice as far. You use only one-half a teaspoonful to the cup. It dissolves instantly in boiling water.

All good grocers sell Rona Dutch Cocoa. Get it today and see what a difference it makes in your Dutch, chocolate flavor. Two sizes: 10c and 25c.

Eleanor proved a faithful messenger once more. Before the evening shadows had greatly lengthened three figures appeared at the lower end of the approach to Tallwoods mansion house. Jeanne, as usual looking out from their windows, saw these.

"It is the old man, madame," she commented. "And, yes, Monsieur le Docteur at last—thank the Bon Dieu! But one other—who is that?"

"It was a very worn and weary doctor who presently swung out of his saddle at the gallery step. His clothing was stained with mud, his very shoulders drooping with fatigue. None the less he smiled as he held out his hand to Josephine."

"How is my patient?" he inquired. "Phumb well, of course. And how about this new one—I thought I fixed him up before he came home. I've been grunting at Eleanor all the way, telling him it's all foolishness, my coming away out here—he could have fixed Dunwoody's leg up, somehow. I suppose you know the old man's son, Doctor. He came along for good measure, I reckon."

The young man referred to now advanced, made a leg and pulled a black forelock. He was a strapping youth, attired in the latest fashion of French St. Genevieve. He bowed to the lady; but at the same time he cast a glance at her French waiting maid.

"Mr. Dunwoody has had a fall, here in the house," said Josephine. "He thinks he has broken the injured bone. I didn't know for a long time that he had been shot. He stood out here last night talking to me."

"Stood out here—talking to you—with his leg broken through the front bone? Couldn't you have any mercy? You didn't have to use that broken wrist, but be—standing around—"

"He did not tell me until the last moment. He said he thought he had a little fever and believed he would take a little quinine."

"I did the best I could with it—out there in the dark, but it wasn't half dressed. Come!" He motioned Josephine to follow him to Dunwoody's room.

Eleanor had slunk away about the house, but Hector, left alone with Jeanne, improved the shilling hour. He was a cooper and had a most excellent business, yonder at St. Genevieve. But the society of St. Genevieve—ah, well! And so on, very swimmingly.

Jamieson shook his head over the results of his first scrutiny. He turned to Josephine. "Have you ever seen anybody hurt?"

"I've been on two battlefields," said she. "I've nursed a little."

Dunwoody turned to her a face whose eyes now were glazed with suffering. He nodded to Jamieson without any word.

"Sally, get some hot water, quick!" called out Jamieson in the hall. "So, now, old man, let's see."

He stripped the covering quite down and bared the lower limb, removing the bandage which he had originally applied. For a moment he looked at the angry wound. Then he pulled back the covering and turned away.

"Well, what is it?" croaked Dunwoody hoarsely, half rising on his crumpled pillow. Jamieson did not reply.

"If that leg were mine do you know what I'd do with it?"

"No; but it isn't yours."

"Well, I'd have it off as quick as it would come, that's all. If you don't you'll lose your life."

"You don't mean that?" whispered Dunwoody tensely, after a time.

"I mean every word I say. Its blood poisoning."

of it I'll let you do your work first and I'll do mine afterward," gasped Dunwoody slowly. "But I'm not going to live a cripple. I'll not be maimed."

They looked each other firmly in the face.

"Is it so bad as all that, doctor?" demanded Josephine. Her answer was a face frowning, absorbed. The bullet wound in the anterior edge was not clean cut. Near it was a long, heavy splinter of bone, the cause of the inflammation—something not suspected in the hurried dressing of the wound in the half darkness at the river edge. This bone end, but loosely attached, was broken free, thrust down into the angry and irritated flesh.

For an instant Jamieson studied the injury. The silence of death was in the room. The tense muscles of the patient might have been those of a lifeless man. Only the horrid sound of the dripping blood, falling from the table upon the carpet, broke the silence.

"I had a coon dog once," began Dr. Jamieson cheerfully. "I don't know whether you remember him or not. Dunwoody. Sort of a yellow dog, with long ears and white eye. Just wait a minute." He hustled over to the side of the table and bent again over his case of instruments.

"There's been all kinds of coon dogs in these bottoms and hills, I suppose, ever since white folk came here, but Dunwoody, I'm telling you the truth, that dog of mine!"

By this time he had fished out from his case a slender probe, which he bent back and forth as he once more approached the table.

"There wasn't anything he wouldn't run, from deer to catamount, and one day, when we were out back here in the hills—I don't know but Eleanor here might remember something about that himself. . . . Hold on, now, old man!"

The old doctor's forehead for the first time was beaded. He wanted silver wire. He would have accepted cutgut. He had neither. For one moment, in agony himself, he looked about; then a look of joy came to his face. An old fiddle was lying in the window. A moment, and he had ripped off a string.

Dr. Jamieson's story of his famous coon dog was never entirely completed. His voice droned away and ceased now as he bent once more over his work.

What he did, so far as he in his taciturn way ever would admit, was in some way to poke the cutgut violin string under the bone, with the end of the probe and so to pass a ligature around the broken bone itself. After that it was easier to fasten the splinter back in place where it belonged.

"I'm only a backwoods doctor, Dunwoody," said Jamieson at length as he began rebandaging the limb. "But with what's at hand I've done the best I could. Wait now until I get some splints—hold still, can't you? If we have to cut your leg off after awhile I can do a better job than this, maybe. But now we have all done the best we could."

The face of Josephine St. Anban was wholly colorless as once more she assisted the doctor with his patient. They got him upon his own bed at last. To Dunwoody's imagination, although he could never settle it clearly in his mind, it seemed that a hand had pushed the hair back from his brow; that some one perhaps had arranged a pillow for him.

When at last Josephine found her own room she discovered her maid, Jeanne, waiting for her, fright still in her face.

"Madame," exclaimed Jeanne, "it is terrible. What horrors there are in this place. What has been done? Is it true that monsieur has lost both his legs? Is it not true how God punishes the wicked? For myself, I was in terror, even though I was some distance away, and although that young gentleman, M. Hector, was so good as to hold my hand."

DO YOUR CHILDREN NEED BUILDING UP?
Thousands of mothers use Father John's Medicine in their families as a tonic and body builder. When the little ones become weak or run down. The nourishing, pure food elements of which the medicine is composed give strength and bring back the flush of health. It is a safe medicine to use, because it is free from alcohol or dangerous drugs. In any form. Not a patent medicine but a doctor's prescription with more than 50 years of success. Get a bottle today.

If you have any difficulty in securing Father John's Medicine from your druggist, write Father John's Medicine, Lowell, Mass., enclosing $1.00 for a large bottle by express prepaid.

You Can Make Pure Lager BEER
In Your Own Home—with Johann Hofmeister Genuine Lager Beer Extract

You can now brew your own beer—best you ever tasted—easily, cheaply, right in your own home. With Johann Hofmeister Beer Extract anyone can make the same high quality beer that has been made in Germany for ages—in the same honest, old-fashioned way. Beer that's so tasty, wholesome, satisfying, even member of the family will surely be delighted with it. Better beer than you can buy in saloons or in bottles anywhere. And it will cost less than 3 cents a quart—a little over a half cent a glass!

Real Malt and Hop Beer at 11 Cents a Gallon Remember, it's not near beer—made of select barley and hops. The real beer of fine, natural color—topped with a rich, creamy foam. Beer with snap and sparkle and pure as can be with life and health in every drop. And the taste—oh, delicious!

Johann Hofmeister Lager Beer Extract is guaranteed under the U. S. Food and Drug Act. Serial No. 30,317. No license needed anywhere to make your own beer with this pure extract. Get a can of it today, follow the simple instructions—then you'll know why brewery beer can never be sold where this beer has been introduced.

50c can makes 7 gallons of beer. 75c can makes 12 gallons of beer. Sold by all Druggists, or sent direct, prepaid, upon receipt of price (cash, C. O. D., or money order). Johann Hofmeister, 111 N. Dearborn St., Chicago, Ill.
